William Chase Gin ~ Herefordshire, England

As vodka is the base spirit of gin, and we all know that vodka can be made from anything, William Chase created one by using organic cider apples from the Chase estate. After going through their copper pot and column still twice, it then goes through their 'Carter Head' style gin still, with the finished product being distilled 100 times! They keep it at a respectable 48% abv so it retains its flavour. For their botanicals they use Juniper, Coriander, Angelica, Liquorice, Orris, orange & lemon peel, hops, Elderflower & fresh Bramley apples! Enjoy in a lovingly made Martini (with a lemon twist of course!), with a rather nice Fevertree tonic (£6) or with peach bitters, a dash of fresh lime juice & ginger ale (£5), perfect for a New Year detox!

Valentines Day ~ Tuesday 14th February

With your month of abstinence well and truly over why not treat your other half to a romantic* night of cocktails, fine wine and food?! You'll probably forget the card and the flowers, so might as well remember to book the table! You'll be promised none of the usual Valentines tat~ no serenading or peer pressure red rose to buy, just our good old charm!!

*Oxton Bar & Kitchen is not responsible for any 'loving' atmosphere required, all romantic ambience is at customers discretion & is not provided by the bar or its staff.

Cocktail of the month ~ Buena Vida ~ £6.25

A large measure of El Jimador Tequila shaken up with homemade vanilla syrup, Angostura Bitters, pineapple, grapefruit & lime juices. Served long over crushed ice.
